CAMBRIA, NEW TOWN IN MONTGOMERY

Has Town Government, Number of Industries and Soon to Open a Bank.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CAMBRIA, VA., July 18.—Cambria, which was until recently merely a suburb of Christiansburg, is now a town unto itself, and is destined to be one of Virginia's lively little cities. Mr. R. V. Allen is the Mayor of the new municipality. During the past three years the town has been steadily developing. Industries have located here, business has looked up in all lines, and now it has a bank or very soon will have, the Bank of Cambria, having recently been organized. The paid-up capital stock is $30,000 and the officers are G. W. Mitchell, president; W. T. Haddock, vice-president, and J. W. Mitchell, late of Abingdon, cashier. The board of directors is made up of some of the most prominent men in Montgomery county. The bank will not open its doors for business until some time in August, when its building will be completed. The building now under construction will cost about $20,000, and will be occupied by the bank and the Cambria Grocery Company, wholesale.

The largest business enterprise in the town is the furniture factory of Averill, Mitchell and Company. The concern employs 150 men and turns out more than a car load of furniture per day.

The roller mills of James F. Rigby & Son stand in the front rank among the flouring mills of Southwest Virginia. W. B. Moore and Company, building contractors, have their hands full of contracts, erecting homes for the new population that is coming into Cambria.

ABINGDON CONFERENCE.

Interesting Session Held at the Madame Russell Memorial Church.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SALTVILLE, VA., July 18.—The Abingdon District Conference has been in session here this week, and quite a large crowd has been in attendance, and the services have been greatly enjoyed by the people of the town and surrounding country. The conference convened in the Madame Russell Memorial Church, which is built on the site where once stood the dwelling of General William Russell, a sister of Mrs. Sarah Henry Russell, a sister of Patrick Henry, who, like her distinguished brother, was widely known for the brilliancy of her intellect and the beauty and fragrance of her Christian character.

It was here that Mrs. William Campbell and Mrs. William Russell, formerly Sarah Henry—the husbands of both being generals of Revolutionary fame—lived, and it is in memory of this illustrious Christian woman that the beautiful stone church in Saltville Valley has been built by the members of the M. E. Church, South. It was at this place and in this home that the first Methodist bishop who crossed the Allegheny stone and held his first conference, and ever afterwards the leading potentates of this church made the home while passing through this section.

From Mrs. Russell have descended some of the most distinguished sons and daughters of the Southland. She was the grandmother of Mrs. Wade Hampton, of South Carolina; Mrs. John

B. Lloyd, Mrs. Governor Compton, of Missouri; Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky; Colonel Thomas L. Preston, of Charlottesville, Va., and there are others who stand high in the niche of fame.

RETURNS THE QUEEN'S COIN

A Specialty Hunter Sends Note of Apology, But Omits His Card.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.]
LONDON, July 18.—A souvenir collector with a conscience has been found, but not identified. When the Queen recently made a private visit to the Franco-British Exposition she paid sixpence at the turnstile in an old London coin which was carefully put inside a framed place on the outside of a show. On Monday the glass was broken and the coin stolen. A reward of £25 was offered for information which would lead to the conviction of the thief. Yesterday the sixpence was returned from the Hotel Cecil with a note apologizing for having given any trouble. The sender said he had no idea that the coin was so valuable. He signs himself "A Specialty Hunter," and asks to be excused from enclosing his card.

Private marks proved that the sixpence was the original royal coin.

STILL PROSECUTE BELL

John E. Madden Wants to Make Him Suffer for Alienating Wife's Affections.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
LEXINGTON, KY., July 18.—In an interview John E. Madden, who heard to-day of the reversal in Cincinnati by the Circuit Court of Mrs. Madden Bell's alimony claim against him, said he would still prosecute L. V. Bell for alienation of his wife's affections. Madden's suit is for $100,000 against Bell. Madden was very happy at the receipt of the news that he would not have to continue paying Mrs. Bell alimony. Madden said: "I intend to punish this man for the interest he took in my family affairs before Mrs. Madden deserted her children."

When asked if he would prosecute further the suit for divorce brought in the Circuit Court here in Lexington, and in which considerable testimony has already been taken Madden said:

"I certainly will ask a divorce immediately. I shall do it for protection to myself. The United States Court has decided that a divorce is only good in the State in which the parties reside unless personal service be had on the defendant. There was no personal service on me in the case brought by Mrs. Madden in Ohio."

"Under the Kentucky law she is still my wife, and in the event of my death she could admit bigamy and get the benefit of a widow's dower in my estate."

FIRES IN PORTO RICO

About Seventy Houses Destroyed and Better Protection Asked.

SAN JUAN, July 18.—Recent fires at San Juan, Cayey and Caborajo destroyed seventy houses. They are believed to have been of incendiary origin. The agents of the English, German and American insurance companies which are doing business in the island have petitioned the Governor for more protection, and he has promised to increase the force of policemen and detectives.
